

History is a narrative that flows till the end of time. Time would eventually decide if the actions done now would have any historical value, whether they would withstand the test and deemed worthy of history's recognition. What we have is the choice to do what we believe is right for we do not decide where along the narrative our actions shall eventually reside.

The Peaceful Assembly Bill 2011 was passed by the Dewan Rakyat yesterday. The manner in which it was passed was speedy. The Bill went through it's second reading, committee stage and third reading in merely hours. Inside the Parliament, the Pakatan Rakyat MPs staged a walkout. The BN MPs bulldozed the Bill through.

Outside the Parliament,
